

THE WORLD'S LARGEST MESH NETWORK OF CONNECTED VEHICLES

Veniam, in partnership with Sociedade de Transportes Colectivos do Porto (STCP) and the municipality of Porto, created the largest mesh network of connected vehicles in the world, where more than 200 000 people enjoy free mobile Wi-Fi every day.

Since 2014, more than 600 buses, taxis and municipal service vehicles are connected to Veniam's innovative mesh network solution, providing high-quality mobile Wi-Fi and gathering terabytes of urban data for Porto's Smart City applications.

Vehicles equipped with a Veniam on-board unit connect to each other and become mobile hotspots

Buses offer free high-quality wireless Internet access to the complete fleet of Porto's municipal buses

Garbage collection trucks and other municipal service vehicles are also connected, gathering urban data for smart city applications
